

After 8 months of hard work in Casa Branca, just up north of Holambra, Brazil, our new hall is ready!

Our highly experienced team will use the latest cultivation techniques while working on the production of our top quality Brasbonitas bulbs.

Get the best of the Brazilian sun

Above: The frontal view of the new hall, with behind it the basin for the recycling of water, next to it the office, dry rooms for cubic boxes and the loading docks.

All new machinery has been shipped to Casa Branca. Left: the washing machines being placed.

The entire process from planting to harvesting is carried out with the utmost care. By combining modern equipment with experienced manual work, we always obtain an exceptional result.

Below: The drying cells in which the bulbs will be dried before being sorted.

Just-in-time delivery, one of the features of a good logistics organisation.

Above: The container cells, where the sorted bulbs will be placed and from where they will be shipped all over the world.